I just tested the Airq2

AirCall. It tested fine

Awesome!

we can receive texts on that number on the mailer, but we can not currently reply to texts due to the regulatory change and we have a high priority ticket into AirCall to resolve and get registered under new terms. Calls are a non issue both ways. That is great news. Even with this happening, we will not miss a call or text from the mailer. If they text our Aircall number I will see it, then call them, or can text them through a non-airball number should I need to, but will stick to calling/emailing and texting off aircall until its fully resolved
