I'll represent Philly with class, but not TOO much class! ;-) Go birds! A $o, i wanted to get your advice on the kitchen sink. It's gradually gotten worse with ongoing clogging on the left side. I've tried multiple de-clogging products. Some worked but only rarely. Now, nothing really works. A ry little bit of water will sit and drain only after about 24 hours so we can only e ectively use the right side of the sink to avoid water building up on the left I'd be happy to run with any handy requirements within the bounds of basic handyman quick fix skills that you may be aware of, but, respectfully, I wouldn't want to tinker with anything more than basic de-cloggers fluids when dealing with plumbing, pipes, etc that don't belong to me. Open to any insights and advice. Thank you. Everything else is perfect. Loving it	Yes

2024-03-28 17:59:26	Stephen Boerner	Text-based	Tenant Request #2: Meet Safety Standards ----- Faulty side gates do not lock. The landlord was the one who used the term "metal gates." That is why it's typed in the text, to remind him of what he stated the home needed. The landlord acknowledged (during a phone call after the incident) that the gates are "deteriorated." ----- Tenant Request #3: Meet Safety Standard ----- Tenants should not take the cost burden of cameras. I offered only because of how long I knew it would take if I had to wait on Luther, if he agreed. It should have been immediate first remedy. I counted: 9/10 homes on Tifton St have cameras. They all have good reason to	Luther, sharing this rap sheet of the man who entered our home. It's terrifying to press charges even though I told the officer "yes" to charges pressed for trespassing. I don't know if that created a charge or if I have actions to take to do so. I spoke to an attorney here. After digging in, he advised me to back off, considering he has no assets and acts with violence often. He said I was likely to create risk by going after him, which I didn't like hearing. The adrenaline has worn off, and we both realize how dangerous the other night was and how lucky we were. No knowing what I know about this background and, I'm worried about us living here. I think it will dissipate in time, but I need to decide what to do about what not to do. Either way, I'd like to get cameras to alert us with motion detectors, and I can buy those if you agree. They will be attachable to the exterior but not cameras requiring drilling. Ring cameras have worked for me before. We'd also feel safer with metal, lockable gates. As of now they don't know, and he (referring to the perpetrator) knows that. He got a DUI the same night (the police told me), but today, his car is gone from his driveway, so he is driving—no regard for much. And I'm skeptical the DUI was even given as the DUI as the cops seemed to know and like him.	Yes

2024-03-28 21:29:48	Luther Rollins	Text-based	Landlord acknowledges "bad person" and the perpetrator is a "repeat" offender, "no drilling" is an insult, I was being nice to move the ball forward, Landlord prioritizes "no drilling" over anything to have tenants feel safe again, Landlord then hopes for "1-time event", then proceeds to do absolutely nothing. NOTHING	The perpetrator sounds like a bad person and rep. at petty criminal. I hear you and agree it might be best to not press charges. A ml hopefully never see this guy again. The city and society don't really have a good answer re what punishment for people like that. No respect for others and no interest in rehab I'm okay with you getting motion detector cameras as long as no drilling. Other renters have installed them up here. Also maybe a plastic sign in the yard that says video surveillance. Might be a deterrent too. Let's hope in the end this is an isolated and 1-time only event. I plan to come down in April and check things.	Yes

2024-06-08 17:16:30	Stephen Boerner	Text-based	Rent Related Correspondance	Hi Luther, i made a clerical error in managing the account our rent checks pull from. The las tcheck appears to hav e not proces sde Did y o experience that as well? If so, i believ e that v ous the written check. I will promptly s ed another if that is the cas eIn the s ame env lope i will als o prov de a s eond check for $4,500 for the month of July 2024. And we paid August 's rent in the down pay ment at time of leas es gning as August 's the las t month of our leas e Pleas ees pond as s on as pos sble regarding the June rent pay ment. I can als o fedex a flat-rate env lope for June and July rent checks to expedite this .Thank you	-	-

2024-06-10 12:32:38	Stephen Boerner	Text-based	General Correspondance	Hi luther, s pke to melis s. $4,500/month is higher than we would prefer coming into this phas en life. She brought up good points i agree with and found an alternativ em s eing s brtly. Let's call it 'nes itg.' This is where i follow her lead and put my preferences on the back burner. Mamma ins itct kickin in which is a beautiful thing to s e. That s id, one option s b was open to was a 1 or two month extens on without the commitment to extend. But the price would need to be les s . I res pect, and unders and, y a and y ar wife's stance in terms of pricing s uh a perfect home. For the s ke of collecting ans vers for Melis s, are y a open to a decreas d monthly cos for 1 or 2 months If y e I, can take that to Melis s and hav en ans ver no later than Wednes dy morning s o we can agree or not agree on extending. Not extending at lower monthly for 1-2 months would mean we would mov en and s g goodbye th thank y a and purs e ens ing our s eurity depos tly leav rig the home in good s anding as it exis t today.	-	-

2024-06-10 13:31:19	Luther Rollins	Text-based	General Correspondance	Hi Steve Good info and update. I will discuss with my wife shortly and get back to you. Please keep in mind that the $4500 was a flat rent and we paid all utilities, electric, internet etc. So, not too high for a 2/2 house w/yard. Did you overlook the June rent check? This is now 10 days past due. Thanks !	-	-

2024-06-11 11:37:41	Stephen Boerner	Text-based	Rent Related Correspondance (an example of Good Will)	Luther, Pleas ecompens ae y ars lf for our late June pay rent. I can either s ad a late fee v a check or y a can deduct the late fee from the s eurity depos ti Or, howev ey a would prefer. Its not right to be this late and its my res pns bility. No fav as pleas e The June and July checks were s at v a USPS. I as kd they be FedEx ov enighted but s b didnt hav etime to go ins de a fedex and my golf cart is currently out of commis ion. Does itmatter the reasons jus t know that both June and July rent checks are in the mail. Both checks are dated June 10th 2024 s oy a can depos tiJuly early. Our accounts are res dred with more than enough to cov e both checks .Wont hav ean is seu Again, i apologize for this I unders and the frus rtation and any concern. With the June and July check en route to y a, once proces sde we are all paid up through August B1s as August was paid as part of the firs /as /s eurity depos tipaid upfront at leas es gning. As of now, we will plan to be out of the hous dy August B1s as i dont blame y a for not wanting to o er dis ounted months after August B1s when the 10-month leas e concludes . Thank y g.	-	-
