This is a first-person account that is metaphorical and therapeutic, although quite dark.

Even darker, and felt more, with good headphones and 3 minutes.

The story revolves around a villain, who is portrayed as a true embodiment of evil.

The story contains a fictitious background of the villain, but his character is based on a non-fictional, accurate portrayal of himself.

The villain is depicted as having a demented, immature mind that struggles to grasp reality, leading to an unseen crescendo of violence. The story focuses on how evil often wins battles, while good rarely wins the never-ending war. The villain's past is riddled with violence and a difficult childhood, which has contributed to his underdeveloped mind and inability to control his anger.

The story also tackles the inner battles that the villain faces, including his inner homoerotic urges, which are portrayed as the driving force behind his anger towards the world. The story's author uses various metaphors to highlight the inner struggles of the villain.

Overall, the story provides an interesting glimpse into the author's mental state during production and serves as a therapeutic outlet for the author's own struggles.

Wanna talk second brain later this week? Curious your progress . I'm knee deep in it

4/16/24, 5:37 PM

Definitely, I would also say I'm knee deep

Friday ?

4/17/24, 6:20 AM

Fridays tricky with the kids being off school, any chance you have time today or tomorrow, I feel super fresh in the mornings and currently have no appts 9:30-12.

4/18/24, 7:37 AM

How about 10am today for 30 min

Perfect

FYI the only thing worth spending on for you if ChatGPT monthly paid version gets you a whole lot for $20/month. I will show you where to get that value . One example of so many is you can take pictures of your handwritten notes and upload image from your phone and it transcribes the notes then you can chat with AI about the contents and it can rewrite them, expland upon them. Etc

Also I'm gonna send you a phone recording in a bit about our conversation and will rock your brain it's pretty cool. Coming soon teaser right here

Now to figure out how to best utilize this archive

You could use the notes app and use the camera scan feature to turn them into PDFs

But dam that's a lot

Then you could load that into an AI to extract the text and summarize each to shorter versions and then DISTILL it further to just the highlights you pick

There is a lot to unpack here. That's a lot to read but I did it!

In theory I like to imagine this as an "AI Clippy" remember clippy? He was that paper clip bot who would help you write like a resume or something on the Microsoft products

My biggest concern for mass adoption is the friction required to get started, the amount of time and energy to get the screen shots required for it to work

I do like the idea of being walked through that process though.

Loved "There is a lot to unpack here. That's a lot to rea..."

Appreciate you reading that

Good feedback. Cheers to reviving good ol' clippy

God I miss you!

Hahah I love that you recap good memories. Love u

Was just talking about you

My dad is in town

Says "yo"

Nice!! That should be a lot of fun

You never see this? Augmented Reality on a wine bottle telling the tales of prisoners

5/9/24, 7:17 AM

Hahah I love how at like 23 seconds Mellisa is getting bored of holding the bottle

At 2 seconds you mean haha

She puts up with these things on the daily

6/12/24, 10:18 PM

Hey brotha. Free tomorrow afternoon

6/13/24, 10:07 AM

It's Christina and we kind of have things up in the air, so I'm not really sure when I'll be free but if at any point it presents itself I'll give you a call calling to see how you were doing. Hope you're well.

6/13/24, 1:20 PM

Perhaps we are in somewhat relatable situations. Im here for you. I have my phone on and with me

6/17/24, 11:49 PM

When are you free next. Need a buddy

6/18/24, 7:53 AM

You tell me; I'll adjust

6/18/24, 9:15 AM

4?

Pm

6/18/24, 10:15 AM

Sounds good!

6/18/24, 3:37 PM

Ahhh, can it be closer to 445?

Let me text you tomorrow. I just need time to think first. As of this morning, Melissa is moving out, leaving me, "separating" i guess. I dont have the words for it today.

Appreciate you making availability and dont worry about changing times bc i was already here to text you that i wanted to cancel and go off grid rest of day.

Im offering that i leave the house and she stay there until she goes back to philly. I have friends with guests rooms and couches and shes trying to move out and pay for a 1 BR short term place somewhere in st pete

And if you asked me why i couldnt tell you why

And here i am with some of the words i said i didnt have.

Talk to you tomorrow. Im not jumping off a bridge any time soon so dont worry about me physically or anything. Just numb. In shock. Helps actually. Dont know how to feel this one

Edited

I'm here for you however you need me.

<https://www.icloud.com/notes/089O3nyFY9CLSAwcgFs1yClpg>

She wants to move out. She wont tell me the issues. Last night i gave her my word id do anything to help. Today, shes usijg my offer for unconditional support to leverage it into me paying for a second place in St Petersburg.

I havent replied. Im just writing this in a noted file to get it out. I need someone to tell me not to send it or to send it or to whatever. Im sharing this only with you. Please dont share or tell anyone. Christina is okay to share i understand how that works. I want Melissa to have whatever she needs. I love her and i dont know what else to do

Delivered

I wouldn't send that yet, I think it's a great idea that your "getting it out of you" and think you should keep doing that, but I wouldn't send it while the cut is still wide open.

That being said, my "advice" is not going to be great because I am unsure of what has transpired with you guys recently

I can't emphasize enough, I'm here for you , we are actually in OCMD and would be happy to talk late night as well and can sit outside, totally up to you.
