Hey there. Just wanted to give you a heads up that I shared your contact information with my landlord.

Everything in my unit has dried up, and I think he's going to look to start doing demo with the drywall Friday

Also, second floor did not have any damage

Ok sounds good thank you

Are you guys home and up by chance?

Yes what's up please don't tell me it's a leak

If so, I have a small favor 🙏

Haha

Are you home by any chance? We have a delivery sitting in the vestibule front door of the building

I'm not... I'm at work

Can help later tonight

8/22/22, 6:16 PM

Steve is coming by around 2pm tomorrow and starting in 4D and we may check on your leak while he's here

Ok... no problem

8/23/22, 7:46 AM

Just so you know the status. It's still dripping this morning, but still just around that ceiling access panel. Nothing down the walls like last time

Ok I'll let you know what Steve says.

Thanks!

Can we go in right? Just me and Steve

Of course!!

Key is in the boot

Any update?

Yes sorry Steve is coming back at 430 there is a new leak behind our walls he cut open and found it but didn't find the source which could be elsewhere

Copy... I'm sorry to hear that 😞

Steve said he thinks it's coming from 4B and is getting access to that unit via Karen. He's scheduled to be back in our place Thursday

Ok... my place is no longer dripping

You hear that alarm or whatever last night? What was that?

No?!

Outside?

Or in the building?

3am. Crazy Loud. Indoors. Wasn't fire alarm. Not sure. Was coming from speakers somewhere inside

Really?! It either wasn't on my floor or I slept through it

Almost sounded like someone was pressing the front door buzzer and that was triggering it bc the noise wasn't steady but fuckin so loud. Maybe only our unit I thought it was everyone. Also the front entrance door seems more smashed up and lock feels loose

I saw what you meant regarding the front door on my way out today. I think that is from something that happened about two months ago, but it is worth reporting to the board

Is your name plugged into the electronic Rolodex outside the door? Is it possible that it is somehow connected to a buzzer in your place?

I don't know how the entry system works. I know I am not programmed into it

Was it worse this morning than yesterday ? I have no clue about our name being in there but maybe they just buzzed 4D....but there is this too...

Where is that box?

Front door to the left

Right out in the open

Weird

Ask Steven

He might know what caused it

ok . I think someone broke in last night. Feels off to me

I'm actually heading home in a second. I forgot my work phone

I'll look again

Hey are you up by chance?

I'm stuck out front the keypad number 6 is stuck

Yes... I'll be right down

Thank god thank you

2/27/23, 6:35 PM

Are you guys home?

Yep what's up

5/28/23, 12:08 PM

Are you home by chance?

Yea what's up

I'm heading out for a bit but am around today in general. Let me know if you need anything

No worries... I just got back from Peru and was going to ask a quick favor... but actually figured it out

Oh nice welcome back. Happy to help if needed

Thanks!

Hi Lauren!

Hope you've been well. Quick question for you.

Our tenants in #4D just brought up an issue they are having regarding the cockroaches seen in the building on occasion.

I don't know a remedy for it. The tenants are asking. Any advice in general to make them feel better? I recall you having your landlord take steps to make it better but I can't recall if anything worked for you or not .

Thank you !

Hi there. Nice to hear from you. I'm about to get on a flight, but I'd suggest saying something to Karen or the board. I believe they have been spraying regularly. I don't want to jinx it, but I've only seen one (dead thankfully) in my place in the past 4-5 months.

I had an exterminator come in about a year ago, but it's more a building issue than specific units. They come up through pipes. I'd suggest putting covers over drains when feasible

Hey thanks for the info. Took that to Steve and he helped me book exterminator for Friday for $45. Ain't bad! Hope all is well thanks again
